

A TEXAS FAMILY DURING THE CIVIL WAR

The following was taken from gravestones in Pioneer Cemetery, Dallas, Texas that I had observed while traveling in the area in the 1980's. Mr. & Mrs. Record were probably married in 1860 when she was 16 and he 26 years of age. Mrs. Record died just 2 months after the death of her youngest daughter, Sullie. Mr. Record died 2 years after the death of his wife, undoubtedly of a broken heart from so much death in his family. Like Mr. Record, the great English Puritan, John Owen, buried his entire family, including his wife. When complaining about our circumstances, we need to consider the deep anguish the Record family suffered. In everything we should always give thanks to God, especially the gracious gift from Him of modern medicine and for chlorine, antibiotics and anesthetics, in particular, always remembering Deuteronomy 8:18-19. Matthew Henry noted in his commentary that it was pride that turned the most majestic of spiritual beings in to demons. – Hadley Robinson October 1992

On a plaque near the Record family graves:

Educated in Tennessee as a lawyer, J. K. P. Record became the District Attorney for Dallas in 1860. He left that office to serve in the Confederate Army during the Civil War, but returned here after the conflict. In 1866, he became a state senator & served as a delegate to the Texas Constitutional Convention of 1866. He later practiced law in Dallas & was an active member of the Masons & Odd Fellows organizations.
